

A 71 year old man tripped getting out of his truck and could not stand or walk due to right hip pain. He dragged himself back into truck by sheer strength and then drove home into garage and used inside door as crutch to get inside; he then called 911. He was not terribly tender over right hip but had pain in groin on internal rotation. I did not try to flex hip. He did not have hip pain on reasonable axial loading from sole of foot cephalad.
